

October Newsletter

Here we are into October and we are on our countdown to Hawaii. We were hoping to have friends go with us, but both of them had events come up in their lives that prevented them from going. We will be leaving just before Thanksgiving to drive to Portland, OR and then fly to Kauai for ten days. If you want to reach us while we are gone our housesitter will have our info.

As I am sending out the newsletter we had four feet of snow on our deck this morning.

On the 18th of September I had my last check-up for my broken wrist. I had my first therapy session the afternoon before. I was getting dressed for the doctor's appointment when there was a snap in my wrist and my thumb wouldn't move. I could pull the thumb in toward the palm of my hand, but the tip would not move at all and I could not stick my thumb out. We went to the doctor and x-rays of the break were excellent. Dr. Whipp said that I had snapped the excisor tendon in my thumb and if it wasn't repaired I would never have the use of my thumb. So on Thursday morning September 19th I went into surgery and I will be in a cast until October 9th. It feels like another part of the healing around receiving. I do not have an intellectual concept nor has St. Germain given a detailed explanation, but this is how it feels. My daughter came to be with me on the afternoon after the surgery and stayed a few days to help out. She and her fiancée are moving back to Yakima, WA on October 1. I will miss having them so close, but he has a daughter in Yakima and we all feel that the move is as much for Julianna as anything else.

On August 23rd my fourteenth grandchild was born to my youngest son and his wife. They named him Zaden which means "sower of peace". He is their seventh child. He weighed 11 lbs. 13 oz.

One night as the Moon was coming to Full in September we had rain and Dorian got up to close windows in the house. As she was moving around the house she looked out our sliding glass doors that face east and saw a complete rainbow in the sky. The Moon was very bright in the west and the rainbow was totally white. I had never heard any one talk about a rainbow in the dark, but there it was.

On September 21st we experienced a 4.9 earthquake. It was 7:16 a.m. and I was on the toilet—not the place to be in an earthquake. There was a rumbling like a freight train that built to a sharp bump and then rumbled away, only to build again to a bigger bump. The house shook on its foundations and I wondered if I would find myself under the house by the time things were done. The whole Lander Valley experienced it. The epicenter was about ten miles west of Ft. Washakie. There was also a quake in Yellowstone and one in Utah about the same time. Years ago when I lived in Billings, MT I lived in a basement apartment and experienced several small quakes while I lived there, but this is the biggest one I have felt and it is quite large enough.

Beginning in January St. Germain is going to be offering a "Personal Growth" package. Each month you can get the Teachings, Q & A (call-in or CD's) and a one hour private session with St. Germain to develop your personal evolution in spirit. The cost will be $120 per month with a six month commitment which is a great deal as a one hour private session is $200 normally. Just imagine spending an hour of valuable time each month discussing anything about your growth that you wish with the Master. We have the good fortune of spending time with him regularly and it is such an uplifting experience.

Rainbow Center News

Our group for October is "Revelation: A Time for the Harvest of Lifetimes". It is the time of year to consider the harvest. Revelation is showing us everything that is available to us for our greatest good, Our Divine Inheritance. It is not physical, yet the acceptance of it inspires greater abundance in the physical realms. How much good/God can you allow into your life? How much do you deserve? How do you measure your worthiness to have the Divine Allness? Have you even begun to consider how Beloved you are? It is time to consider, allow and receive the Harvest. The group will be October 13, 2 p.m, at the Rainbow Center for the Humanities, 177 N. 4th in Lander.

CD's can be purchased on the website at www.voiceofthegatekeepers.com/2013groups.html

Our October Teaching with the Master is "By What Measure Do You Value Yourself?" The World values most by money and goods yet if you lack personal worth and value all the things that could be amassed become progressively less meaningful in the essence of these times. There is a deep longing in the depth of each Soul for the feeling of Remembering Home. Things of the Illusion cannot fill that hunger and thirst of the Spiritual being. St. Germain calls us to remember from the "Lord God of our Being" the amazingly astounding value that has always been ours, beyond any goods of the physical World. Join us on October 9 for the call-in.

If you haven't had the experience of the Teachings that St. Germain is offering this year they really help us to understand what is going on. It just might be worth your while to check them out. The deep healing power of the Master is there to experience again and again as you listen to the awesome wisdom that he brings. CDs are $15 for each set—Teachings or Q&A. It is $25 to call in one time or $40 for both sessions each month. Postage and handling are separate.

ASTROLOGY

NEW MOON-October 4-5

New Moons are positive times for setting new intentions. We influence our world by every thought that we have. Quantum physics has proven that thoughts are things and we are creators with our thoughts. When you look directly at something waves of light become particles. When you turn away the light returns to wave form. The sign of Libra calls us to hold gently, our creations around finding balance in our lives, appreciating the relationships that we have made and bringing a deeper sense of peace into our own lives so that we can send the waves of love and cooperation out to others.

The sign of the scales can be traced back to the beginning of recorded history. The Egyptian people believed that at death the Soul was measured against the weight of a feather. If the scale tipped the Soul had to reincarnate. The early Christians considered Libra a symbol of Michael the Archangel, who wields the sword of truth. Described the Razor's Edge in the Upanishads, and as the Middle Path in Buddhism, Libra's spiritual quest is the reconciliation of opposites, which takes place in the heart rather than the mind. As we allow our hearts to open we recognize our connection to all of life. The closed heart is the prison of the illusion of duality and separation. Libra calls us to integrate heart and mind through the channel of Love.

Venus, traditional ruler of Libra and named for the goddess of love and beauty is associated with the heart chakra. Venus will be transiting Scorpio along with Mercury, the North Node and Saturn—asking us to embrace the shadow parts of ourselves and let go of those aspects that keep us in the dark. Venus in Scorpio requires that we reclaim the dark feminine, the values of wholeness and interrelationship, of all the beginnings and endings that life brings us. This archetype is portrayed around the world by the Black Madonna, Crow Mother, Hecate, Isis, Kali, Lilith, Morrigan, Oya, Pele, Persephone and many others. The dark feminine calls us into our emotional depths, into the great mystery, into our diversity and divinity. Denial of the feminine cuts us off from our feelings, our body and connection with Nature. The results are illness, alienation and destruction of the Earth and everything on it.

This New Moon closely opposes Uranus and squares Pluto, as it widely squares Jupiter in Cancer creating an extremely dynamic grand cross in Cardinal signs. Long-standing issues of imbalance and injustice are going to be more powerfully revealed than ever. Conjunctions initiate new cycles, squares bring turning points for more positive directions, and oppositions show the way out of polarization in our lives. The period between 2012 and 2015 will bring tremendous social changes that will spring from the seeds of the vision of the 1960's. The Uranus/Pluto square spurs us to be more progressive, courageous and innovative—Uranus in Aries. We are required to be more truthful and to take personal responsibility for our actions—Pluto in Capricorn. While Jupiter in Cancer, asks us to allow a greater respect for women, feelings and family. Saturn makes a quincunx to Uranus just after the peak of the New Moon and put the spotlight on the things that we fear and the expanding necessity to think outside of the box. On October 12 the Sun squares Jupiter and we will be required to consider new options and to take a different approach to old ideas.

The thrust of this New Moon in all of its aspects is to bring us to fully understand that we are not here to remake the world, but to change the world by remaking ourselves.

FULL MOON-October 18

Every six months the Sun, Moon and Earth align precisely enough to form an eclipse. Even a partial eclipse creates a shift that reboots our reality. Old matrices go off line, new templates are downloaded and consciousness is reconfigured. Eclipses are exceptionally powerful New and Full Moons that set the stage for major endings and beginnings. We find ourselves at crossroads where the scales are tipped by our choices. We are given opportunities to move forward in our soul's progression. Issues relating to our natal planets and houses affected by an eclipse can be felt as much as a month before the actual date with turning points occurring as much as ninety days later. The first planet to transit over the eclipse point can trigger important developments in the life. Trust that whatever is falling apart is making room for something better. We have become so attached to what we have, who is there, what we think we are and how we can control keeping everything the way it is, that we cannot always see the gifts that are being presented by the old ways leaving or transforming. The planets are leading us into new paths, new vistas and new perceptions. We are not really blind, but we require to see with new eyes.

Mars, traditional ruler of Aries, is in Virgo closely opposing Neptune in Pisces. We are called to express the divine masculine which is the protector and sustainer of life, rather than the negative masculine which destroys life and seeks domination over the lives of those around it. It is time to feel within and find the compassion to aid those who require assistance and serve those who cannot always help themselves. On October 30 Mars moves into opposition with Chiron. This configuration promotes greater willingness to forgive and reconcile differences, as well deeper empathy and a strong sense of altruism.

On October 21, Mercury begins its third and final retrograde of the year, stationing at 18 degrees 23 minutes Scorpio and turning direct on November 10 at 2 degrees 29 minutes Scorpio. The Winged Messenger again reaches 18 degrees 23 minutes Scorpio on November 27. Mercury doubles its usual time in Scorpio because of its retrograde. It remains in Scorpio from September 29 to December 4, bringing the necessity to be completely honest with ourselves and resolve old issues of both emotions and finances that we have carried against others.

This Full Moon eclipse conjuncts Arcturus at 24 degrees 15 minutes of Libra. Arcturus is the third brightest star in the sky and is mentioned several times in the Bible and many times in Edgar Cayce's readings as one of the most advanced civilization's in our galaxy. It acts as a stargate or doorway to other dimensions or other parts of our universe. According to the Book of Knowledge: The Keys of Enoch by J. J. Hurtak, Arcturus is "the governing body for our universe which determines the spiritual progress of humanity". Arcturus alignment with this eclipse heightens the potential for deepening insights and expanded awareness.

Our relationships are no longer about finding our other half, but about the recognition of our wholeness and finding those with who we can share our completeness.

CRYSTAL CORNER

THE CRYSTAL CORNER

Goddess Within

We are close to October, my birth month. In addition to Opal, my birthstone, I have a very real attraction to Moonstone. This stone carries a lot of Goddess energy and will certainly assist us in our ongoing.

The white Moonstone has always been an aspect of the purity of the Goddess, an aspect of the inner nature, the feminine self and how to receive. It draws in and allows the love of the feminine nature, the Goddess. Many will have a great fear of it, being attracted and repelled as by a cobra, for they desire the powerful love of the Goddess and fear their abuse of it in other times.

Vivianite is another Goddess stone and the aspect of high feminine understanding. It brings Goddess forth in her strength, in unconditional love, a beautiful love dark like the night, mystical as woman's nature. It creates the extreme strength of love with no fear of the gentleness of it, for with the gentleness there is great power. This crystal is attuned with the third eye.

For those interested in Crystal Healing I, I will be teaching this certification class the weekend of November 2nd and 3rd.

Complete crystal information will be mailed when paid in full.

You will:

- * Explore ways of using crystals for yourself and others
- * Receive information about the stones and their uses

Green Moonstone is associated in the physical with the liver and gallbladder and brings a sweetening to issues that would bring bile. It is almost what you would call a gem-quality antacid. It would sweeten the digestion, all the words and thoughts that are difficult to digest or release from the body. This is a little more grounding than the white Moonstone and brings the emotional healing more to how it would address physical organs. It is not recommended as an elixir.

Rainbow Moonstone brings together the essence of Isis, the magic, the essential nature in the heart, that energy of beloved Mother when the entity desires to be held. It is the essence of the divine Goddess to assist the woman within to know her power, that essence of the ocean that is so deep it is terrifying because of its primal nature and yet, the desire to hold it because it is there.

* Observe basic layouts and energy balancing

* Receive a certificate to display

TAROT TALK

I decided that this month I would talk about the Medicine Cards by Jamie Sams and David Carson, published by Bear & Co. These cards are a wonderful addition to any tool kit of the modern meta-physician. There are forty-four beautifully designed cards in the deck. When I bought my first deck in 1990 the deck included several blank cards so that you could use your own creativity to personalize your deck.

One of the most interesting features that this deck offers is the ability to find your own personal totem.

East: (left side of circle) This card shows how you choose to express your spiritual self in the world—your protection, guidance and the shadow side of the journey.

South: (Bottom of the circle) This is the position of the student, what we learn about life, how we use what we are taught and the limitations that we are called to overcome.

West: (Right side of the circle) This is your inner self, the place of your dreams and wishes. This is where you discover your real purpose in life. Study it carefully. Is your dream or vision based on what others expect or what you have been told? Are you truly seeking to fulfill the goals that your higher self is suggesting?

North: (Top of circle) This is the place of the teacher. We cannot teach what we do not know, so this card speaks to the discovery of wisdom from other life times and truth found in this journey. The shadow addresses how the EGO wishes to present itself as something it does not believe or accept, hoping that others will get caught in the illusion.

Center: This card is your internal totem. It speaks to the deepest most intimate parts of who you are. If you have not made the journey within this card will assist in the experience. This is the inner guide. This the gateway into the spiritual realms.

Protector of the East Gate: This card is placed outside the circle next to the Eastern card. This guide brings extra enlightenment on the way. You may find this animal accompanies you in meditation as a personal companion.

Below: This card is placed below the South card. This can represent both foundations and obstacles along the way. This card deserves some extra study, Feel into the energy and let the spirit of the animal assist you in greater understanding.

Guide of the West Gate: This is another important element of the inner realms. This animal brings special attributes to hold you in protection on the inward path.

Above: Here messages are brought from the higher consciousness. This animal has information to strengthen your ability to hear clearly what spirit would have you know. Remember that spirit always brings messages of clarity and up-liftment. If you get messages of discouragement or ill will then the shadow side has entered the game. The shadow should be attended to with discernment and compassion and then allow your prayers to be that you will discover the highest good for all concerned.

This is a layout that probably would only be done once, because even though you are constantly changing, the changes are made based on the framework of yourself. New guides may appear, but that does not mean that those who started the journey with you are no longer valid. Always be open to hear the message and then be willing to recognize new aspects of it as you grow.

ST. GERMAIN'S MESSAGE

Dearly Beloved Masters, the discovery of self is an imperative now. The last shreds of the illusion are floating randomly and each being is required to know and recognize self at all times. The mind is a collector of knowledge, a reference library, that aspect that defines form in third and fourth dimensional realms. It is limited to what it knows unless there is the willingness to allow the intellect to blend with the wisdom of Spirit.

When there is confusion the EGO has taken control of the situation and you are required to let go of attempting to make things work in a certain way. The more the energy shifts on the planet the more difficulty there is in attempting to do things the way that you always have. Learning to relax in the midst of conflict, means forgiving the need to be right no matter what. We keep saying, “Ain’t nothin’ what it seems”. When things get difficult remember that you may be addressing a situation according to how or what you think is going on, but others may be seeing something entirely different. You are attempting to make points in the space where you are and what you are talking about makes no sense to those that you are addressing. The Bible called it “the Tower of Babel”—everyone speaking but no one is understanding.

Take a deep breath and allow your mind to clear. Let everything clear (reboot your internal computer). Ask yourself some questions to assist yourself to discover where everyone is in the situation. Ask others these questions and really listen to what they are saying. These communication glitches are becoming more common all of the time. The old order was all about making points and winning. The new energy is moving so fast that it seems slow. Each person is required to make the inner adaptation so that functioning in the changes does not feel like rank insanity. Patience is not something that goes in or out of style. It is an absolute necessity in a Master’s tool kit.

Children, especially in large cities, have become progressively cut off from social contact with both adults and each other in a personal way. Parents may feel that there is too much going on in their own lives or that there is just not enough time so children are learning from their peers rather than from adults. When the parents are available the social pressure from peers is to ignore what adults are saying. You might say, “So what is new about this?” The vibrations that everyone lives in are very different from fifty years ago, twenty years ago even ten years ago. Children are more than ever, being educated in the technology of electronics, but are not taught how to deal with the major frequency changes of the emotional nature, what they are feeling inside. No one has been taught to understand feelings. Feelings have been avoided for the most part and when they had to be addressed have been treated as subjects that belong to the realm of psychiatry. Sexuality and the negative effects of the emotional nature are blatantly displayed, yet never really acknowledged for the power that they possess in influencing the human condition.

“Emotions are scary”. “Feelings make you vulnerable”. “Just ignore it and it will go away”. But changes don’t go away and many of today’s youth believe that if you carry a big gun you can kill anything that gets in your way. The difficulty is you cannot destroy the EGO or Spirit. Both EGO and Spirit influence physicality, but are not physically accessible. The mind says, “I know that”. But knowing isn’t, necessarily, understanding. Unless there is that inner connection with self, life can start to feel full of dark shadows as one moves into the new paradigms. The light is there but often it appears to be unrecognizable because the perspectives are changing all of the time.

There are many examples of people who have been arrested, jailed and perhaps even treated for “mental illness” and then sent back out onto the street as though the wound that caused the issued never existed. Society, the medical profession, even the church says, “Get yourself together”, “act like a man” (what does that mean? Many of these people believe that that is exactly what they are doing.) “Don’t let anyone know how you feel” (as though the whole world won’t know when the actions based on the pain make headlines)

Healing the inner war is not something that has a formula—“do this, stop that and everything will be fine” is a concept of the illusion. The outward focus of the illusion is creating all manner of challenges as the necessity to connect inwardly is an imperative. Intellectual perspective is “focus out there because that is where everything is happening”. Focusing inward is not putting on blinders to what going on physically, but rediscovering the spiritual foundations that have always existed within. No one outside of you can “fix” your life mentally, emotionally, physically and certainly not spiritually. You receive information through what you read, what you hear and what you see then it is up to each person to discover within the sense of what is appropriate for their life. The mind has set up rules (laws) to be followed based on “good and bad”, “right and wrong”, but love and compassion do not enter into the equation. Judgment associated with self-righteousness can be very cruel and is at the bottom of much of the wounding that now requires to be healed. The fear and hatred of those who are different have been tools of destruction in the illusion. Who is not different? EACH SOUL ON EARTH IS DIFFERENT FROM ANY OTHER—DESIGNED IN THE AMAZING WISDOM OF A CREATOR WHO SAW LOVE AND BEAUTY IN EACH ONE.

How did things get so skewed? The mind is a brilliant tool which is like a fine sword. The thoughts and words of the mind can cut keenly and bring clarity or devastation depending on the intension of the swords cut. The pain of separation has dulled the sense of what the outcome of cruelty can be. Wounded children raise wounded children. The game has gone on for so long that the “right to wound because I am wounded” has become a rule.

Parents, in frustration, say terrible things to their children, often believing that if the child is crushed they will be more compliant. The cliché “The pen is mightier than the sword” could also be stated “The Word cuts deeper than the sword”. The desperate need to be right turns parents into sibling rivals with their children. The inner war, raging in both parent and child, causes rifts that are terribly difficult to mend. The parent expects respect, but does not show the same respect for their sacred creation, their child. Children are cast into the streets because “no one knows what to do with them”.

LOVE IS THE HEALER!

“LOVE IS PATIENT, KIND AND FORGIVING”. Love must first be found within self for self in order recognize love for others. The patriarchy has made children just one more item of possession and as such to be compliant to the parent’s wishes. Children are and always have been precious gifts—not lumps of clay to be cast in the image of the parent’s wishes, but God created Souls with Free Will to design life by their own inner direction.

Love brings an inner connection to the recognition of Truth in its purest form. Free Will was not granted by God as a tool of destruction, but the EGO has found that by whispering of the right to do as you wish it can set those who counsel with the EGO to believe that they can get away with anything. Then the EGO turns its other side and whispers of the punishment of exercising that Free Will.

The Mind has set rules, laid down laws and said “Follow these and don’t ask questions. Just do as ‘we’ say”. The changing paradigms, shifts in frequency and dynamic downloads of high level information are all calling for the necessity to be present here and Now. The desire to escape, that the illusion has made so strong, is creating havoc because those who are out of their bodies or disconnected intellectually do not see what is happening as the acceleration of energy changes the speed with which events occur. The distortion of the illusion of Time/Space is causing more and more “accidents” because people of all ages are used to having much more time to react.

In the past, the slow-down of reflexes was blamed on the aging process, but drugs (prescription and street) and alcohol are slowing down younger people and the distortion of time causes them to believe that they are reacting normally. Being born to drug addicted parents alters the DNA. Children who are born addicted themselves have a totally different view of life, not only physically, but mentally and emotionally. These factors are being overlooked, in concession to the vast amounts of money that drugs make.

Love is pouring into the planet and that is making changes no matter what. Love is far stronger than the vices of the illusion. As Love changes the direction of everything on the planet, the driving force of “Money Above All Things” will begin to pass. Those who are still attempting to make money from the suffering of others will begin to realize that like an energetic boomerang the outcome of their endeavors will change. The Truth of the Universe is balance in all things. When something changes in one place then there are naturally changes somewhere else to compensate. The Mind has attempted to outsmart the laws of nature and make everywhere an oasis. Nature has quietly maintained a balance. Money is a manmade symbol of value. It has blinded the eyes to the presence of God/good on the Earth. Gold is precious, but as with anything that is hoarded it ceases to bring goodness to all.

Revelation is pulling away the facades of the illusion, so that those who would do anything to anyone for money are being revealed. There was a song of the sixties called “Teach Your Children Well”. Children learn much more from observation than from indoctrination. Actions really do speak louder than words. What are the children being taught by a planet of rebels who want to do what they want to do and hope the children aren’t paying attention. How did you learn?

Dearly Beloved Masters, Revelation is a harvest of life times. What are you reaping? What are you giving the children? You do not have to be a parent to be a teacher. You teach much less from telling people what to do than from living your life according to the direction of your Spirit—not “to good to be true”, but “true to the good/God”.

So Beloved Ones, until we meet again in whatever manner that might be, I bid you Adieu! I AM your most humble servant, the Lord St. Germain.
