

August Newsletter

Our pictures for this month are the familiar Devil's Tower of "Close Encounters" fame. Some of the rock people from Castle Gardens near Gas Hills, WY. and the invisible bunny that seems to be everywhere.

I want to give a heart-felt thank you to my contributors, Linda Thomas and Ronda McLean for their time and wonderful articles each month. We appreciate these additions to the newsletter.

August is a part of the traditional "dog days" of summer that begin on July 23 and end on September 23. The "dog days" are usually unbelievably hot, but that is not where the name came from. Sirius the Dog Star becomes visible in the summer sky on July 23rd and then ceases to be visible on September 23rd. Many consider July 23 to be the most powerful day of the year and celebrate its energy as they would Solstice. The energy for creativity is higher during this time and considering that this year the "dog days" so closely follow the two power eclipses on June 26th and July 11th, with continuing up spiral due to August's powerful aspects, everything is amped up.

By the way, how have the eclipses affected you and your life? The changes have been unsettling to say the least—restlessness, uncertainty, frustration and anger have been altogether too present throughout July. All of the most unattractive aspects of the emotional reactivation of the old order are rearing their ugly heads in every quarter. The grand potential of these two eclipses is to connect with much higher energy as in higher will and higher self. It is to clear a lot of old stuck emotional grievances that can release the patterns of our lineage issues and free us to be more of who we truly are. The requirement is to be aligned, centered and faithful to our own understanding. This is not about attempting in any way to force others see things the way that we do, but to love so deeply that we connect to the calmness and tranquility within us that brings us to allow others to be who they are without conflict.

The Saturn/Uranus opposition in Aries the end of July has also put a lot of pressure on the "I" aspects of the old order—such as "If it doesn't affect me, my family, my home or my community directly I don't care what is happening". The changes that are occurring are bringing an inner awareness that is dawning on the psyche that if something happens to anyone it happens to all. It isn't "what can I do to stop what I don't like?" nearly so much as the willingness to change the internal dialogue and focus on what we desire to bring about. Uranus is breaking up the old ways in the same manner as earthquakes, tornados and hurricanes do. Saturn can be a strong foundation or just stuck energy, but either way no one can really keep doing what they have always done without having repercussions. The "baby boomers" have been the first generation to live young when we have been told "you cannot do that". The societal picture is "old at fifty". That belief certainly does sell more drugs and keep the medical profession in business. I have had many health practitioners—both allopathic and wholistic—say "What would I do if people started getting well?" St. Germain's answer is "You would find other, more pleasant ways to prosper, such as teaching people how to be well in the beginning".

We have no idea just how much petroleum goes into the drugs that are created by the pharmaceutical companies. There is the hue and cry about how toxic the oil spill is in the Gulf, but how much of that same toxic substance has been ingested by those who rely on drugs prescribed by their doctor, supposedly for their healing? All that is required is to go on line and find out what is in the drugs that are being taken. There might even be a clue to why the person is not getting well. If we get too much of a vitamin, even though they are good for us, it can cause the body to react. There are people who are taking as many as fifteen to twenty prescription drugs every day and they keep getting sicker, but many are afraid to quit taking the drugs because they have been told that they could die if they stop. Why do they take these drugs? "Because the doctor prescribed them." No one seems to consider that they could die if they keep taking these drugs.

There are more and more revelations that the corporations have no concern for the people, only for the gross (this can be gross in more ways than one) profit. This has been going on for a long time. It didn't start recently, but people are beginning to wake up and it is as though this is new, when it is just another aspect of the old order brought to light to be forgiven.

People are squaring off on opinions and the two eclipses that have just passed are basically requiring more patience and less war. Fear sees threat everywhere. A clear, centered response brings a greater potential for a peaceful outcome in any situation. The EGO wants immediate relief even if the long term outcome may be worse for everyone. Everyone has an idea of what to do in any given situation, but usually it is what someone else should be doing, not self. Blame is flying every where yet the only place to find the best solution for self is within.

The healing of these times requires the tough love of looking at the face in the mirror and then making the necessary changes. It means lovingly taking self in hand and staying with self though thick and thin.

Lander is back to normal after all of the flooding. We have lots of sandbags and pylons left everywhere.

After a long cool, almost cold spring, suddenly we are having major heat just like the rest of the country. Hope your summer is being peaceful and pleasant.

ASTROLOGY

NEW MOON

This New Moon on August 9-10th is in the sign of Leo bringing about emphasis on affairs of the heart. Each New Moon sends a stream of energy from the cosmos. This one is broadcasting an especially powerful signal. This is the first of three Super New Moons in a row. A Super Moon occurs when the Moon is both at perigee (its closest approach to the Earth) and syzygy (conjunct or opposite the Sun). Super Moons generate stronger gravitational and electromagnetic pulls on the Earth's tectonic plates and oceans, as well as a greater effect on our psyches. We are being drawn to fully embody the soul blueprints encoded in our birth charts. The knowledge of what the script of the soul is about and how it influences your everyday affairs is more important than ever.

In Leo we discover the expression of our authentic self. Leo is the hero/heroine and it follows the sacred journey which begins with the internal call to the adventure of life. When the call is heard, we must leave the world we have always known and become explorers of the unknown places, both within and with out. In the "Initiation" phase of our journey, we meet wizards and dragons, allies and challenges, which strengthen us by testing our resolve and reaffirming our course. Remember that even though this sounds like magic or a fairy tale the "initiation" occurs in our daily life and affairs. Often these most important spiritual initiations are overlooked because they seem so “normal or commonplace”. The wizard may be your best friend or a wise adviser who steps in at just the right moment with the crucial bit of information. The dragon could be the boss, your teacher or any person or situation or personal trait that challenges you to grow and get centered. We dream of life being easy, but we learn, grow and become wise through the experiences that test us to prove how powerful we are. As we discover who we truly are we receive the prize of inner wisdom. We have spent life times “going home”. Now we are returning to the at-one-ment and we are “coming home”. Each person is on the journey. Many are waking up because they hear the call. It is a clarion call to remember self, not the horn of judgment. Some are facing their dragons of doubt and uncertainty. We are all being reminded that our life, our gifts and our talents are of vital importance to the world. Whether we are at the point of “Initiation”, receiving the prize for our efforts and the “Returning” phase where we unite with self and God/Goddess/All That Is these are exciting and challenging times.

Since early June Pluto has been squaring Jupiter, Uranus and Saturn. Venus, Mars and the asteroid Vesta join Saturn to create an extremely powerful t-square in cardinal signs. The cardinal signs mark the beginning of a new phase of development. A t-square involves at least one opposition and two squares. This t-square involves eight oppositions and seven squares, greatly intensifying the challenges to constructively integrate all of the energies involved and maintain our balance while we use the energies wisely.

Jupiter’s conjunction to Uranus will show us more demands for equal rights and civil liberties. It can also set far-reaching technological advances into effect. Things that have been said to be impossible are becoming, not only possible, but probable.

This t-square with Jupiter/Uranus opposing Saturn/Venus/Mars and squaring Pluto will bring evolutionary shifts in how we relate to each other, how we conduct our business and how we handle power in every area of our lives. Cancer, the empty leg of the t-square is the potential point of resolution. It indicates that the responsive, relationship-oriented, life-nurturing qualities of the divine feminine are most required now to bring healing to a wounded world. Domination and discrimination are being revealed for the bitter illusions that they are. The Age of Aquarius is the age of Divine Androgyny, underlining the importance of the balance of male and female essence in the coming times.

This New Moon initiates the necessity to shift how we see and do things, but the influence is on much more subtle inner levels. The Sabian symbol for 18 degrees of Leo, “A chemist conducts an experiment for his students. Practical application of principles to ordinary life. Active enlightenment; or forced awakening to inner potentialities.” confirms that we are still learning about the fundamental forces of life. Pluto forms an exact square to Venus within the hour after the New Moon pointing a very long celestial finger toward the opening that will move us out of our current personal and global crisis. The old ways work less well every hour. Those who are insisting that we must just continue to follow what we have known are blinded by the light of the New Age’s dawning.

The Master St. Germain says that the only way out is to go so deeply into our Soul center that we find the heights of ourselves within.

FULL MOON

This Full Moon in Virgo/Pisces on August 24 emphasizes the birthing of conscious awareness of spirit in the physical world. As we connect with the solar plexus and feel the discernment that spirit brings we become progressively clearer in our choices and our desires. Virgo clearly separates the treasure from the dust, the wheat from the chaff. Virgo seeks to eliminate waste and spends no time in self-deprecation or disparagement of others. We must recognize what is working and release what is not.

Pisces, represented by the two connected fish swimming in opposite directions, indicates the truth of how all dualities and dimensions of creation are one. Pisces has discovered that everyone and everything is both a particle and a wave. Each one is a unique individual and an inseparable part of the universe. We are both temporary and eternal. The shadow side of Pisces gets lost in daydreams and fantasies, addictions and codependency, victimization and martyrdom, attempting to play god rather than recognize that everyone is god.

Mercury turns retrograde on August 20, just a few days before this Full Moon. This ruler of Virgo calls us to “think different”, expanding our minds with cosmic energy. We are being led more and more into the evolved essence of the New Order. We must look at how we are connected, as well as, our divisions. We are required to look at information both from logic and feeling. In other words we must think with our hearts as well as our heads.

Uranus, higher octave of Mercury, has returned to Pisces and forms a quincunx with the Sun. In order to create the new forms required by Aries we must wake up and be present in our bodies. The subtleties of the new energy are revealing that there must be a fundamental shift in perception from “us versus them” to “We”. Love and beauty provide the essence that will open our hearts. Crisis can break open our hearts, but as we allow ourselves to make the quantum leap in consciousness we are required to experience fewer and fewer disasters and wake up calls. Uranus will return to Aries on March 11, 2011, where it will continue to catalyze major personal, social and technological breakthroughs until 2018.

The extremely powerful t-square involving Uranus, Jupiter, Saturn and Pluto remains in place continuing the pressure for us to make real, not illusionary changes. Saturn makes its third square to Pluto on August 21 at 3 degrees Libra-Capricorn. This underscores the bottom-line changes that have occurred in relationships and business since last November when the first square took place. The Venus/Mars conjunction supports new types of relationships, based on mutual empowerment. During the Full Moon Venus and Mars will semi-square the Sun and susquiquadrate the Moon, requiring that we be both more assertive and more compassionate in our interactions with others. The old order has been almost one dimensional in its use of energy and now we are being called to draw in threads of energy from opposing points to make the divine balance in our world. The healing between male and female still requires a lot of effort on our part.

The Sabian symbols for this Full Moon show us that the challenges that we are facing are vital for our development and survival. Sun at 2 degrees Virgo: “A large white cross stand alone on the top of a hill. Dominance of environment through individualistic self-realization. Eminence at the cost of struggle. Full self-assurance.” The Moon at 2 degrees Pisces: “A squirrel, showing human acumen, hides from hunter. Instinct of self-preservation as a basis for greater realization. Lifting of self to surer foundations. Transference.” What are your body and your intuition telling you? Remember: “there is no such thing as a problem without a gift for you in its hand.” (Richard Bach)

CRYSTAL CORNER

Hello to all of you. It seems the world is full of changes with us attempting to keep up. Sometimes I feel like if one more thing changes I might become a hermit! But then again, wherever you go, there you are. So, I guess I'll use my beautiful instruments to aid me on my journey and hopefully, help you on yours.

Epidote/Quartz is one of the more interesting stones. It is an evolutionary crystal. It draws into the entity the awareness of nova from old order to new order. Where the old order is breaking down, breaking apart, the new order is exploding on the scene within self; the energy, the ‘ah ha’, the flood of information that many entities are simply feeling as though they can’t bear up under it. So many ideas, so much to do and so little time, but into this the time-space continuum is collapsing. This is the stone of the returning of the energy of time and space to the human being.

As we begin to become whole and begin to heal, one might be amazed just how that healing affects everything and everybody around us.

Diopside is truly a beautiful emerald-green stone. If placed upon the heart, this would heal the chakra systems out into dimensions you have not understood and also, inside into dimensions you have not understood. It would heal “the sins of the fathers unto the seventh generation.” It would assist in that understanding. It would address chakra matrix, for each chakra is associated with the human body both in the physical, as well as the essential chakras above the head and below the feet. Because the chakras are associated with worlds that you are creating, this would put you in touch with the chakra matrix.

Most of us have come face-to-face with what we consider our demons or greatest fears. How we deal with that is totally individual but one crystal in particular might assist us.

Aergine/Quartz would be an excellent stone for those who think they are fighting the dark forces. This would assist in the uplifting, the overcoming, the transformation and the transmutations of the belief systems in the dark forces, those aspects that could, from the negative side of life, do you a great deal of harm. This stone would be, among other things, a very wondrous stone for these times of evolutionary revolution where the old order is being lifted, shifted and transformed. It holds the mysteries of the Goddess. This is like the womb of the mother where things are gestated as they are being brought into manifestation.

And so, as we go along on our journey, there are many entities, instruments and healing modalities that would greatly assist us. We have but to ask.

For any questions or more information about the stones, please contact me.

THE GARDEN FAIRY

Sage

Sage is a small perennial evergreen sub-shrub, with woody stems, grayish leaves, and blue to purplish flowers. It is native to the Mediterranean region, though it has naturalized in many places throughout the world. It has a long history of medicinal and culinary use, and in modern times as an ornamental garden plant. The common name “Sage” is also used for a number of related and unrelated species.

Sage has been grown for centuries in the Old World for its food and healing properties, and was often described in old herbals for the many miraculous properties attributed to it. The Sage plant has been praised highly throughout history and on many continents for its powers of longevity. Sage has been used since ancient times for warding off evil, snakebites, increasing women’s fertility, and more. The Roman’s likely introduced it to Europe from Egypt as a medicinal herb. It was so valued by the Chinese in the 17th Century that Dutch merchants found the Chinese would trade three chests of China tea for one of sage leaves. During the Carolingian Empire it was cultivated in monastery gardens. The plant had a high reputation throughout the Middle Ages, with many sayings referring to its healing properties and value. It was sometimes called S. salvatrix (Sage the Savior), and was one of the ingredients of Four Thieves Vinegar, a blend of herbs which was supposed to ward off the plague.

Common sage is grown in parts of Europe for distillation of an essential oil. As a Kitchen herb, sage has a slight peppery flavor. In Western cooking, it is used for flavoring fatty meats, duck, poultry, pork stuffing, sausage, and in sauces. Sage is also used in Italian cooking, in the Balkans, and the Middle East.

Salvia and “Sage” are derived from the Latin salvere (“to save”), referring to the healing properties. It has been recommended at one time or another for virtually every ailment by various herbals. Evidence shows possible uses as an antibiotic, antifungal, astringent, antispasmodic, estrogenic, hypoglycemic, and tonic. In a double blind, randomized and placebo-controlled trial, sage was found to be effective in the management of mild to moderate Alzheimer’s disease.

A sage sandwich or sage tea benefits digestion. Sage teas or sage wines are nerve or blood tonics. The strongest active constituents of Sage are within the essential oil. Caution is indicated when using sage in conjunction with central nervous system stimulants or depressants.

Sage Astringent

4Tbsp. dried sage
¼ tsp. borax
4Tbsp. ethyl alcohol
3 Tbsp. witch hazel
(or 6 Tbsp. vodka)
10 drops glycerin

1. Macerate the sage in the alcohol for 2 weeks and then strain.
2. Dissolve the borax in the witch hazel. Stir into the alcohol. Mix in the glycerin and decant into a bottle with a tight fitting lid. Shake before use.

Enjoy!

TAROT TALK

Our tarot card of August is Compassion, the Three of Wands. Compassion and patience enter twine to bring peace. Be gentle and tender with self and others. Empathy allows the connection to the emotions and feelings of others, but requires objectivity. Compassionate objectivity is one of the primary teachings of the Goddess Kuan Yin. Compassion is sweet, but exceptionally strong, therefore we are called to be both gentle and self-assured. The Wands always address potential spiritual evolution.

Compassion flows from the area of the heart and Soul and pours out into the world. The healing power of Compassion is beyond measure. Compassion is born of sorrow, thus sorrow brings the understanding of the depths of love through compassion.

Compassion brings healing. As you live the energy you recognize your ability to heal, first yourself and then others. Feel the aliveness, the in-touch-ness with self, that compassion brings.

All of the threes in the Tarot deck relate to the Empress, bringer of abundance and gifts of the Earth. She is Goddess Mother and she loves all of her children unconditionally. In compassion we love everyone, no matter who they are or what they do. Live your best self in the essence of forgiveness and acceptance that compassion brings.

When the Three of Wands manifests in your reading it is putting you on notice to be allowing of the flaws and frailties' of humanity. You may be asked to be tolerant of actions or beliefs that you would normally judge. You may be required to deal with the ways of others as they provide a mirror that you cannot stand, until it dawns on you that you are avoiding your own ways. People are often offended by their own actions in the reflection of others. Bring out the best in yourself by accepting others. This allowing essence can cause greater creativity and delight to fill your life. Compassion is felt in the solar plexus as love, not pity, so be aware of what you are experiencing.

You may find that you begin to experience expanded creativity in areas where you felt nothing was happening. You can meet those people who both inspire and encourage you, as well as those whom you can support. Creativity, Love, Nurturing and Compassion—the elements that the Empress brings to the world through the trine or three energy.

ST. GERMAIN'S MESSAGE

PATIENCE

Dearly Beloved Masters, are you willing to be patient with others, with life and most of all with yourself?

As the frequencies of the planet continue to accelerate, the impact on the emotional body becomes more like a pressure cooker with each passing hour. The Truth is that the acceleration is beneficial, but the beliefs of the old order do not take that into consideration. If something is strange, unknown or foreign the mind sees it as a threat. The Earth has passed through many portals over the last twenty-three years, since the Harmonic Conversion. Each level has torn away a thin layer of the veils of illusion. EGO says, "Let's just tear them all away and be done with it". Oh, Beloveds, we watch so carefully how the changes are happening. To some extent, because it is time, the shifts are occurring quickly and we see the reactions of humanity to the differences in energy. We are holding a powerful intension that all will come to recognize that the shifts are for the greatest good of all concerned.

Patience has not been a well exercised virtue on the planet in eons. Now it is of the greatest import that each person remembers its value. Control, domination, self-centeredness and fear have contributed to the devolvement of the frequencies of the planet for centuries. Immediate gratification has become the rule and if there is not an instant compliance many entities react cruelly and some violently. The divorce from Love has hardened the hearts of the collective and there is a major healing taking place at the deepest levels of the being. This healing does not go against free will because it is being called at the Soul level. The EGO feels the changes and is pushing those who are looking back and clinging to the old ways to be progressively more violent. The mind, driven by hate and fear, can do unmentionable things and then shove remorse aside. However, the remorse can no longer be totally ignored as the shifts are refining the essence of the planet. So what appears to be the violent end of things is just a series of Cosmic adjustments that you have prayed for ever since you began to feel the separation happening.

When you feel the Love within yourself, for yourself, patience becomes so much easier. When you can take a deep breath and wait for an outcome, rather than attempting to force the issue, what can come to you is the most positive, beautiful reward for allowing things to move in Divinely appropriate timing. The reward of patience is patience. Just as like attracts like, the art of patience is worthy of practice. The beginning of patience is letting go of the old EGOIC patterns that make you afraid there is not enough. This is a plentiful and abundant planet. The Earth of the third and fourth dimensions is diminishing. The Earth of the fifth dimension and above is eternally fertile and rich.

Patience begins the process of seeing into higher dimensional frequencies, not only seeing into them, but living there consistently. As you let yourself relax it is so much easier to be patient with others, because when you feel loving patience and live it you view yourself in a new light. As you are gentler with yourself and see others with new eyes the whole of life begins to alter in the renewing vision of patience.

Impatience has blurred the vision of the inner eye and distorted the perspectives of the mind. The more impatient, the more critical and fearful one is the more paranoia becomes the rule. Patience is an aspect of FAITH. When there is the deep, clear understanding of safety and security that FAITH brings, then patience flows along that path, following and fulfilling the promise of goodness.

Many around the world are confronted with what the mind would define as disaster. The immediate reaction is futility. A lot of these souls would swear that they believe in a Supreme Being and know that they are loved. Yet the concept is still something so far removed from the NOW, that it never crosses their mind that in order for more good to come in the old limits must be removed. People who live in abject poverty feel that they cannot lose the little they have. In the midst of the collapse of physical and emotional limits there are always those who emerge into better, sweeter lives. Those who do not believe that the good can happen to themselves will say that God loved those whose lives improve more. Those who allow themselves to rise above the old ways will find a better world. In all things, in all times, it is the Masters choice that brings the specific outcome. Intellectually, the question arises, "Why would anyone choose to suffer?" The answer that has developed throughout time is, "Suffering is the way of the world. Suffering is noble" and many even believe that suffering buys you a place in Heaven. The EGO always brings mixed messages. The "right thing" to say is "God will bring us through". However, the reactions of those who don't see life righting itself to their expectations is blame, judgment and anger at someone, anyone but themselves. Often God gets the greatest blame.

Now, Beloved Masters, we do understand that the way life has been lived, generally, on the planet is depressing. So when people say seeing life as better is hard to do we agree. Living life from a new perspective requires courage and fortitude which all possess but, the lack of patience obscures. "I want the change now", "I don't want to wait any longer" is in and of itself, an energy of blockage because the focus is on lack, limit and denial. What is wanted is believed to be somewhere else and therefore, in the hands of someone or something away from the power of self.

Getting centered, especially in the midst of crisis, is vital and the practice of patience enforces new, happy, creative patterns that immediately move into place when there is a requirement. Not only that, but patience opens the inner vision to see beyond the striving of the illusions so that what is desired can be felt and recognized even if it has not fully manifested in the physical NOW yet.

As you are willing to seek out the essence of the virtues, spiritual guidelines, and apply them faithfully in your life on a daily basis with patience you will see your life change. The changes come as quickly as you are willing to allow them. Force, reaction and anger only delay the process. You cannot plan how you will be patient because you never know ahead of time when the necessity for patience will arise. The EGO says, "I will be impatient until I need to be patient and then I will just be patient". The insanity of that is that if you have no idea how patience feels, the balance and discipline that is required to live it, you cannot just produce patience in the moment. Patience is an energy that is felt in the solar plexus, directed by the essence of the Soul. Patience, power and perseverance are elements of living in the refined essence of the higher planes of awareness.

Releasing the pain of the chaos of the existence in illusion can only be brought about by a steady focus on what you really desire. Living your life with your eyes on God, does not mean looking up, but looking (see/feeling) within. What ever the name that you call the Creator of All Good, (we will use God) that goodness is poised to pour out blessings, as you are willing to allow them. Just remember in these times of change that sometimes, for the moment God's answer is "no", not to deny you but to bring even greater good than you have asked for. Patience opens the way for the gifts of Spirit to come to you.

What you see in front of you in this moment is not the final word or outcome, but the breaking down of all that no longer serves you. You cannot imagine what this planet can become based on the disintegration that you are witnessing in this moment. You have depended on goods and products that purely benefited the physical. Now you will begin to use energy in different ways that will benefit mind, emotions and spirit (the unseen aspects of life) as well.

Being patient with your self brings a willingness to receive the very best from life and from others. The fact that time is not functioning as it once did means that what you are waiting on and the time it takes to manifest are very different from the past. If you notice that from one day to the next the fear shifts from one side to the other. Today the stock market reflects optimism and tomorrow it may plummet to new lows because the EGOIC mind is trying to bring a perfect balance which is impossible. If you live by the media it is like standing on a log in water and keeping your balance is virtually impossible. Patience puts your feet on solid ground.

And so, Beloved Masters, find patience within, feel how it empowers you, feel its strength and enjoy the comfort of experiencing life in higher consciousness. Until we meet again, in what ever manner that may be, in the greatest of Love I bid you Adieu!
