

JUNE ISSUE

Here we are moving into June and 2007 is half over. It was New Year's only yesterday.

We are having the greenest spring I have seen since moving to Wyoming in the summer of 1995. The days continue to be cool and even though they are warming up it has been a beautiful and comfortable spring season. I love the fact that Wyoming has seasons. That was something I always missed in Texas, where there are warm winters and hot, hot summers. I used to tell people that I came from Texas where Santa came in on a camel and wore an aloha shirt on Christmas Day. I didn't see snow until I was nine years old and then it was only enough to color the ground white. I do appreciate the winters in Lander, because we get enough snow to be fun, but not enough, most of the time, to stop us from going into town each day. We had one storm this winter where we had to be plowed out of our driveway, but that has only happened once before.

We were talking the other day about people who take jobs that associate with their name. Our realtor is named Householder. The local greenhouse is run by the Sprout family and we have a local surgeon named Butcher. Did the name call the occupation or did the desire for the occupation cause the soul to arrange to have the name?

ASTROLOGY

NEW MOON

The New Moon falls on June 14-15 and is in the sign of Gemini is associated with transformation—the butterfly coming out of its cocoon--the mysteries of nature revealing themselves. Gemini is the first air sign and as such it stimulates the mental realms. Gemini's love to know something about everything, but they often get bored if they have to spend too much time on any one thing. Gemini's are curious, open to new ideas and new sources of information.

The God Oden hung upside down on the Yeddsil tree for nine days and nights in order to get a different perspective that could offer the world its first written language, the Runic language. That was a very Geminian thing to do.

This New Moon finds Pluto (major transformation) in opposition to the Sun and Moon. Both masculine and feminine, inner and outer self are undergoing changes as we move into summer. Jupiter (expansion and excesses) is in a wide opposition to Sun and Moon and all are squaring Uranus (vision, rebellion, moving into the future). The transformations of this New Moon will take us into places that we have not known about and gently closes doors to a past that will not serve us where we are going. Gemini is much more focused on now, rather than past or future.

Squares always bring tension and some frustration because they motivate us to move out of the rut and into unknown territory. Adults, often have much more problems with change than children because they feel they should already know how to do things. Children rush to each new learning experience with relish. Adults often move forward slowly with fear and/or judgments about their own ability to look intelligent when confronted with unknown circumstances. This is a testing time for everyone. We have taught our children based on how we were taught and the children have actually come to open our eyes to a whole new world of magik that they remember and we still do not believe in. It is all so new. We are being shown how to think on a higher level. The body brain is in the center of the body, not the head. As we transfer our thought processes to the center we see/feel, hear/feel and even think/feel which is all new.

June 25th will bring the third and last opposition between Saturn in Leo and Neptune in Aquarius.

These oppositions in late August of 2006, late February of 2007 and now in June have been about further dissolving the illusions of duality and reminding us that we are, indeed, spirit masquerading as humanity. Those born between 1947-1954, when Pluto was in the middle degrees of Leo, have gotten the biggest wake up call. However, we are all being pushed to own our creative gifts and unique abilities at this time. This opposition has been the column of light in the illusion, leading us to the clarity that will close the gap between our desires and the current limited beliefs of this time. “The Secret” has become one of the biggest new ideas to burst onto the horizon in quite some time and it appeared as Saturn and Neptune were moving into opposition. “The Secret” is leading many people out of the darkness of limitation and into the new light of possibilities that had been dismissed as “just imagination” before. Those who swear that the Law of Attraction doesn’t work have not yet realized that they too are proving that it works unconditionally. What ever you say, you are right. We are learning that restrictions can build character, but we are never required to stay in adversity after we get the lesson. What is the good of learning something new, if we cannot apply the teaching to our lives to make them better?

FULL MOON

Full Moons are always a time to measure our progress and make choices whether to continue along the path we are pursuing or change direction.

The Sun is in Cancer, the first water sign, directs attention to the emotion body and feelings, which are the higher octave of emotions. The Moon in Capricorn asks us if we are fulfilling our soul’s purpose.

In Western society we have been taught to overlook or stuff our feelings. They are totally verboten in most areas of the life. Especially for men, showing any emotion but anger is considered unacceptable. “Big boys or girls don’t cry” or “you are just overly sensitive”. The judgment against feelings as a weakness, womanish or a nuisance, causes loss of the valuable guidance that feelings give us in daily affairs.

Deep feelings are kept in the closet and we are quickly learning in these times that you cannot control the emotional nature with your mind.

A group of eminent doctors on the east coast got together and decided that since emotions could not be proven, they do not exist. How much fear of the unknown and uncontrollable does that show?

The Sun enters the sign of Cancer just before midnight ET on June 21. This marks the beginning of summer, the longest day of the year and a time of plenty related to crops, outdoor activities and the general freedom that warm weather brings.

For this Full Moon, Mercury which just went retrograde on June 25th, has moved to conjunct the Sun and Chiron (the wounded healer) co-joins Neptune. These aspects empower us to see new things that have been right in front of us, but out of sight because we had not yet moved to the vibrational frequency where they existed.

The lesson of Chiron in Aquarius is to get grounded and the conjunction with Saturn provides the necessary ballast to bring spirit into matter, rather believing that the only way to be spiritual is to leave the Earth plane. This is not the old time practice of reducing god to our level, but expanding ourselves enough to live spirit every moment of every day, here and now.

The nature of this Full Moon is to bring a new level of balance. We have been taught that we are nothing. We are now being called to remember, thorough unconditional love, that we are everything. Right now our life is flowing between these two polarities. The shore limitation is receding and we are moving toward the shore of unlimited possibilities.

CULTURAL CREATIVES

I feel lead to comment on the generation that was born between 1962-1969. These people were born with Uranus and Pluto in Virgo. They came to, among other things, change the direction of the market place. The old order has belied totally in competition—“if the competition goes down that leaves more for me”. The Cultural Creatives are looking at business as though it is an eco-system like the planet and if one part is destroyed the whole suffers. The idea that we can cut down vast forests to make money now because, “who cares what the future generations have to deal with”, is showing up very quickly as a huge lack of oxygen on the planet. Moving wolves because they are a threat to cattle and the tourist industry is showing up because the balance they created in nature has been disturbed. God clearly saw how each and everything is perfect in its place.

Humanity has forgotten it was placed here to be stewards of nature, not to rethink God.

The Cultural Creatives have a much more compassionate outlook on how the whole of society can and must flow together. They also understand that the balance cannot be restored by fighting each other over causes. This change must be implemented within each person.

You cannot control emotions with your mind. You can pass laws and through fear make people comply, but that does not mean that within themselves they are living the spirit of the law. They are only obeying the letter of the law. We are now being directed by changes on the planet, to learn to live the spirit of the law in our daily lives, which has no necessity to be enforced by police or military. "As a man thinketh in his heart so is he", takes on a much deeper meaning when we actually live it, instead of just talking about it.

The Cultural Creatives have come to change the direction of medicine. There are more and more people turning to alternative healing sources than ever and the number of options grows almost daily. These souls have also come to change the J. O. B. mentality, to a consciousness that will allow more time and more money.

There is an unspoken law, at least mostly unspoken, that says, "You can have time or you can have money, but you cannot have them both at the same time." This isn't true and never has been, but it is a sure proof of the Law of Attraction. People have really believed that if you are not working really hard you cannot make a lot of money and if you are working really hard you don't have time to enjoy what you make.

The parents of the children who were born in the sixties were the first ones to powerfully begin to hold a dream of something better than the limitations of the depression era. Now the dream is emerging in their children. These babies born in the sixties are often called rebellious and hard to deal with, but mainly that is because they simply will not comply with Old Order limits. Generally, these folk are moving toward greater levels of compassion and feeling, therefore they can be very disturbing to those who wish to cling to the tenuous "safety" of how we have always done things. The pendulum swings one way and then the other and then it comes to center. We are now witnessing the swing of the pendulum away from "just how it is" to "how it is becoming", a real unknown.

HAVE A GREAT DAY!

Cara Winship sent this out it is called: God's hands.

I took this picture on Hwy 30, traveling to London City, KY. It has given me strength in the times of trouble. I feel I should share it with the rest of the world. I hope it is an inspiration to you. It just goes to show what we already know.... We have a God and he's watching over us.

I e-mailed this picture to News Chanel 36. I was contacted by Meteorologist John James. He said that this picture of the sky is showing up, in all states, around the world. He wanted to know where I was from and where I took it. He saw a similar picture taken in Texas. He said this is amazing to him!

THE CRYSTAL CORNER

THE POWER WITHIN

What could be more freeing than developing the personal power that resides within you? How wonderful to stand for what you believe and remain true to yourself! There are several stones that would facilitate aligning and grounding that empowerment.

Carnelian, an orange agate, is probably the most common stone used for power because it assists in setting fear aside. Its energy is more of a positive polarity as it is slightly more masculine than feminine. It would be used at the navel chakra, the second. If you always wanted to have a jewel in your navel, now's the chance!! Carnelian allows more of a focus on power and clearer understanding of what power really is, for the misconceptions of power have been much intertwined with the misconceptions of separation here. Therefore, this would assist one in coming to their power, feeling the power or feeling the misalignments where the connections are not made. It assists them to reconnect their power.

Another agate, Leopardskin agate, is used for aligning power. A dynamic placement would be to put a piece between the navel and the pelvic bone, in the middle of the body, and a piece on each point of the pelvis. For further enhancement, use clear Quartz and black Obsidian with it. The Quartz will amplify the energy and the Obsidian grounds the energy but also strips away illusions. That would be a nice bonus!

The peach-colored Garnet is an excellent stone for one doing the exercise of calling the light and calling all of their power back to themselves. Hold the stone or have it sitting close by as you familiarize yourself with your power. It helps to hold the frequency of reclamation and owning of one's own power.

Orange Selenite is a mineral that would be great to sit with at navel level for reconnecting with power, calling power home, meshing all of the energies that have been given for lifetimes, bringing emotion to center so there is a sense of peace and joy in the emotional nature rather than conflict and fear. I love the energy of these spheres!

Enjoy your journey to empowerment and feel free to contact me with any questions.

CENTER NEWS

Our intensive was a great success. CD's will be available for sale by mid-June. The set will be $75.

Our next group will be June 10th, "Revisiting the Harmonic Convergence: Fire of the Spirit". St. Germain will take us to the next level of understanding of how to be directly involved with Spirit all of the time.

We will be entering, astrologically, another portal of fire very much like the Harmonic Convergence, on June 18-19 with six planets in fire signs.

In this configuration Mars will be in Aries. In 1987 Jupiter was in Aries, indicating a new beginning into the Spiritual Realms. The Moon, Venus and Saturn will be in Leo and Pluto and Jupiter will be in Sagittarius in the June configuration. At the first Harmonic Convergence the Sun, Venus and Mars were in Leo and Saturn and Uranus were in Sagittarius.

This time the Moon in Leo brings much more Goddess energy into the mix, eclipsing the Sun in Leo in the last century. Venus still calls us to the joy of the heart and Saturn in Leo helps to ground us into a new reality.

Mars in it's own sign brings more focus on Spiritual warriors who seek peace rather than, just fighting one more worn-out battle. "Onward Christian soldiers" was still a focus on battle, even though at the time the cause seemed worthy. The beautiful people that are giving their lives in the Middle East deserve to live well on a planet where conflict with each other is truly history. As long as there are people who believe in war, there will be innocents sent to fight their battles.

St. Germain says that we must get so tired of war that we will give it up.

Pluto and Jupiter in Sagittarius expand the emphasis on Spiritual awakening, bringing what has been hidden--our own inner knowing--to light. Jupiter's benevolence can bring increased abundance on all levels to any and all, who are willing to step into the unknown future with absolute Faith.
